EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Haus of Trio, a partnership kind of business owned by Ms. Pelareja, Ms. Constantino, and Ms. Rodrigues. The owners are third-year students at Governor Mariano E. Villafuerte Community College-Libmanan. The three ladies decided to group each other because they'd become friends in the long run of college life three years and counting, they considered their friendship as a firm triangle. The three owners have different perspectives and personalities but they become one for the same goal and dream to become one of the popular entrepreneurs in the field of business. The three owners easily got along together because they have a comfortable presence to talk and started a conversation even though they had a count gap between their ages. Melissa is the oldest, and by attitude, Melissa the most understanding and has more patience when the situation was hard to handle, followed by Justine a very talkative one, very approachable to get along with, because of having an attitude that if you standing alone and not chatting with people Justine may accompany you and loosen up you are nervous and encourage you to increase your confidence when making a friend, and lastly Kathlin the youngest in their class, a moody type of lady, not easy to handle alone, a self-centered person but an approachable one. Through by attitude, Kathlin can control and pay attention to what they are saying even it comes to jokes or a serious conversation. The three get along together and decide to be in the group because they are balanced.

Before the company name was created the business was once become CPR Company, then 3b'1 Company and Mix N' Trio Company. Owners faced so many trials and challenges while building the company. Those trials and challenges are the reason why the company named Haus of Trio. Next to the company decided what kind of product the company would be going to offer. Haus of Trio focuses on introducing a new ingredient Pomelo or Lukban to the existing product Relish also known as Atsara in the Bicol region. In Papaya the usual main ingredient of relish. When someone heard the word Atsara, the main ingredient that everyone knows are papaya. Haus of Trio aims to introduce Lukban as a substitute for papaya as the main ingredient for Atsara that every fried and grilled food customer loved. Papaya is a very good combination with the remaining ingredients of Atsara at the owner thinking about how to introduce Lukban as the new main ingredient. Lukban is also seasonal so that the owners find ways regarding the availability of the product.

Haus of Trio developing a new and innovative pickled product, Atsarang Lukban made from fresh pomelo pulp. Atsarang Lukban product marketed at the place in Libmanan and the first product that kind to be manufactured there. The new product, Atsarang Lukban is the best side dishes partner particularly in fried and grilled foods a year-round enjoyment for various targeted customers. The product of focus for this business will be Atsarang Lukban. A new taste, different sizes, and satisfaction of the customers will all be available at Haus of Trio. To rise above competitors, Haus of Trio Company will offer affordable prices to satisfy customers' common health and cravings.

The business owner uses a simple but clear indication of the product Atsarang Lukban. Peace Sans font used as a type of font made with love. It can make the name of the typography more peaceful and kinder. Like the owners wanted a peaceful life and spread kindness toward each other. Fern color used as the background color of the label because it represents everlasting youth; many indigenous people believe that the fern represents new life and a new beginning. It also represents hope for the future, trustworthiness, and humility. The brown color used thought to evoke feelings of warmth, security, and earthiness. Sandy color used which relates to home, health, and comfort, it is a very well match to the product Atsarang Lukban. The plastic jar represents the main product and inside is the picture of the main ingredient, which is Lukban. A white curly line added to the appearance of the product label.

Atsara aids in rapid weight loss since it contains: Few calories, rich in antioxidants, which protect the body against free radicals, High in vitamin K, this vitamin is good for blood cloth, especially after an injury, boosts one's metabolism, so if the metabolism is low, add pickles to the diet and improve digestion.

The pomelo has a benefit particularly: Rich in vitamin C and potassium and contains several other vitamins and minerals. Full of fiber that can help add bulk to stools, feed healthy gut bacteria, promote overall wellness, may boost heart health, may have anti-aging properties, Easy to add to a diet.

Table 2.1 Atsarang Lukban sizes and prices

Size	Price
Small	89
Medium	109

2. Comparative advantages

The Haus of Trio business was a new build company owned by three entrepreneurs. The company offered a new innovative product, which is Atsarang Lukban; the pricing is affordable in the market and has a savory taste that customers will love to add to their favorite fried food dishes. Though several stores commonly use the original pickled product, pickled papaya, no one made a new kind of Atsara that company will.

Atsarang Lukban has several advantages over its leading competitors; Unique and new innovative products, The company expects a high degree of enthusiasm and offers affordable products with friendly staff, that reflects the company's youthful and energetic culture, Supporting manufacturing items that support the company's brand building, Atsarang Lukban is made 100% crisp, nutritious, and appetizing product, compared to most Atsara in the market, Atsarang Lukban is made raw without preservatives, The innovative product will be more entertaining than our competitors.

3. Customer Value Proposition (CVP)

The product offered a nutritious and affordable Atsarang Lukban. It offered a good service to deliver it immediately and on time to satisfy the customer and minimize their time of waiting for the arriving of products. The business owners do not only focuses on profit but also on building a strong relationship with their customer. The business will arm with communication equipment and facilities to strengthen contact with the customers. For those loyal customers, we could provide better service at the same price. The company will give concessional benefits to those regular customers.

B. Target Market

The Haus of Trio intends to sell the products in Libmanan. The place chosen was due to the reason that it has a big municipality, and their school was located in the place, it will be the best to market the product. It is the company's goal to be the one who innovates new kinds of pickled products in the place. The age group is from 20-60 the primary age where company building efforts could take place. They are on reliable incomes and seek value, price, and healthy eating habits that will not stretch their budgets.

The secondary target is the small store and the youth, generation Z especially, college students, which are an addicted eater of grilled foods. They are more flexible in budgets and seek more than a value and price relationship.

The third target is those who owned barbeque businesses, they are reliable on endorsement and profitable when it comes to value and customer relationship.

The business owners' strategy is to promote the new product in the market. First, the company is featuring freshly made Atsarang Lukban craving paired with rice and fried food. The idea is a good meal.

Second, the business wants to keep the price point as fair as possible to keep in competition with other food outlets. Atsarang Lukban in a small plastic jar valued at 89 pesos, and for a medium size price of 109 pesos. The company offers much more excitement than the rest of the competition. Atsarang Lukban can also be served as take away for those who want to enjoy the side dish in the comfort of their homes, friends, and with family.

C. Market Segmentation

Although the Haus of Trio Company would be the only small company in Libmanan, other companies would offer competition. Counts of sari-sari stores selling Atsara in the market. Despite the similar businesses in the area, Haus of Trio would contain a few beneficial strengths to make it more desirable than its competitors would. Haus of Trio Company would be capable of meeting the needs of consumers requesting specific modifications to satisfy particular health and benefits. The central location of Haus of Trio Company would be an additional valuable aspect of the company, allowing it to be accessible to a large market. Part of the target market of Haus of Trio Company includes barbecue businesses. Unfortunately, these consumers are present when it comes to endorsing the product. Most known barbecue businesses are much better. Both would benefited from the success of their business. The weakness of this company would possibly include its competition with businesses that have been open for many years. Locals often choose to support local businesses. With these habits created, it may be difficult for the company to receive the business of locals who already have a favorite or preferred Atsara.

The growth of the company may be limited based on the location of the business. Being in a large town, the market size is much higher if the business were located in a small city. However, the growing new kind of Atsarang Lukban is promising for the success of Haus of Trio.

The company is located at Zone 5, Puro Batia, Libmanan, zip code 4407, with a population of 112, 994, Tropical and Maritime climate, the Philippine time zone is GMT-8, and the mother-tongue language of the province is Bicol.

Haus of Trio target customer aged 20-60 years of age, with no gender preference, no income option, no occupation liking, no family size preference, no marital status liking, and no education base, as long as, can afford the product offered by the company.

The company wanted to meet the goals of being one of the known new producers of nutritious Atsarang Lukban in the place of Libmanan. The Haus of Trio aimed to meet the needs and satisfaction of the customers. Be one of the friendly economic individuals who discovered a new kind of product that the owners can share with those future entrepreneurs. Individuals are the curious type and they try new eyes, Atsarang Lukban is the best due to the reason that it can catch the attention of the interest of the customer because it is a new flavor of Atsara.

The company not only focuses on gaining profits. Company and customer interaction, loyalty, trust, and building a good relationship is one of the focuses of the company. The company would offer a satisfying and accommodating service that customers would stay first before other things. The owners and staff would always be in touch even online or direct selling.

D.Demand and Supply Analysis

One of the objectives of Haus of Trio Company is to gain profit. The company focuses on supplying the demand of the customer. Pomelo is the main ingredient of Atsarang Lukban, which bears fruit seasonally. The harvest of the pomelo was from November to January. The company projected that the fruit most sold during these consecutive months. More supply of Pomelo, more product produce. Haus of Trio Company was confident that they would be able to keep up with the customer's demand for the product during these months as were all know that this was a celebration of the long holidays. When it comes to the months when there is not enough supply of the ingredient the company assures that it would still be able to supply the product but only in a small quantity.

The table below shows the population during 2020, according to Phil Atlas, how many the percentage aged 20-60, and how many would the company projects produce per year.

 \text{Market share} &= 35.40\%
 \end{aligned}$$

2. Competitors Profile

In a new business, the competition may already exist with a similar product or the entrenched company may already offer the present product. The company identified the major competitors as businesses that provide services that overlap with the company and are located in Libmanan- the same geographical location as the Haus of Trio. Specifically, the company identified the following businesses as competition: Rihan's Homemade Products, and Side-Walk Vendors.

Direct competitor

Rihan's Homemade Products

The business is a sole type of business that offer different kinds of product. A new form store in the place in Ibid, Libmanan. One of their products is Atsara made in Papaya for only 120 pesos, medium size only. Rihan's Homemade Products is the closest store to the company, which makes the store a new build business and has the same packaging as the products of the company.

Indirect competitor

Indirect competition will consist of various companies and stores with pickle businesses competing to satisfy the customers' cravings.

3. Present and Potential Suppliers

For the main ingredient supplier, the company will cooperate with Ms. Francisco the owner of pomelo trees in recent years, more pomelos are appearing seasonally. The trees owned are most for self-sourced fruit. There will be competition to Ms. Francisco's pomelo trees. With the other resources of pomelos, the other supplier in the public market sells pomelo fruit.

E. Projected Sales

1. Per month

The small size of Atsarang Lukban is 89 pesos each; the company estimated production per month is 100 pieces of small size, so the company multiplies the produced product at the price of small jars.
